TUESDAY NOVEMBER 30, 1909

Be not simply good; be good for something.—Cowper.

It's about time for Zelaya to take to his aeroplane.

Hawaii's first flying machine is to go to Hilo. Gee, Whiz!

Bryan touring General America is an interesting figure, but why is he going there at this time?

Turn the city water system over to the county and it will be financed if the Territory can't handle it.

If there were as much water behind Nuuanu dam as there are dollars planted in the thing, dry times would be less oppressive.

Viewed from the outside, only evil-minded laborers or thick-headed managers can bring discredit to the latest plantation wage scheme.

Talk about putting your eggs in one basket. There's none safer in the world to hold all of any man's money than the enterprises of the Territory of Hawaii.

Congratulations, Admiral Rees. Honolulu's only objection to his promotion is that it means he may not finish the Pearl Harbor task he has so well started.

Level-headed men among the laboring element of the plantations now have proof that their advice to trust to the good faith of plantation interests was sound.

Laborers on the plantations can also figure this year on a dividend as regular as those announced on the Stock Exchange and representing a larger percentage on the investment.

Under the wage scale suggested by the Sugar Planters' Association, work on the roads at a dollar and a half a day should soon cease to be attractive to the citizen laborer who would make his lot count to the best financial advantage.

What will the Merchant Marine League of the United States say of protected Hawaii when the workers for American shipping at Washington find that a local campaign is on to put our local travel in the hands of foreign ships?

Put the money you have made through Hawaii's prosperity in enterprises for further development of the islands. There is such a thing as moral obligation in business, and this is an instance in which it will pay to satisfy the obligation.

THE NEW WAGE SCHEDULE.

Increased wages for the man who is willing to work is what the new wage plan outlined by the Hawaiian Planters' Association means.

This should be entirely satisfactory to every workman who expects to get ahead through industrious application and faithfulness to his employers.

The profit sharing system is presented under the contract plan in a very attractive form and will undoubtedly accomplish the object of bringing the employer and the employee to a closer union of interest. The cane contractor in the fields of this Territory, assured of at least $22 a month, free house, free fuel, free water and free medical attendance, is in a far better position than the workman in any enterprise of the mainland who boasts of a dollar and a half a day, finds himself and has no assurance of work all the year round.

So far as the day wage is concerned, it is a very fair rate and with all the perquisites as well as the prospect of a bonus for steady work, the laborer in the sugar field is nearly a hundred percent better off than the average agricultural toiler of the mainland.

Under this scheme the laborers of the plantations have an opportunity to reap profits that naturally result from good prices for sugar and favorable weather conditions. And during the off years they would still get a very good return.

This paper has no doubt that the wage scale now suggested to the plantation managers would have gone into effect last year had the labor agitators possessed the good sense to have refrained from their foolish move to gain control of the sugar industry. Experience has proved the industry cannot be run by criminal elements striving to sway the ignorant laborer, and what is more important, that the employer of labor is quite willing to share his prosperity with the loyal employee.

The coming season in the sugar industry should be gratifying in every way. The outlook for the price of sugar and the price of labor shapes up well. It now remains for the plantation managers and the laborers to work out the scheme harmoniously, as by this means alone will they secure the best results for all concerned.

According to the San Francisco Call, a supporter of the prosecution, the San Francisco election was the signal that the people had enough of the graft prosecution. So let's not worry over what the "new administration" will do to the cases now before the court.

What could be better than the start made by the new Wilhelmnia? It is worth any American's while to make a fight for a larger fleet of passenger and freight boats with which to build up the trade of Honolulu and furnish a reserve force for the navy in time of need.

Our correspondent who discusses the down-town streets touches a live topic. Honolulu's shopping district has a mud and dust nuisance that is at times equal to the worst. It can be remedied at a very slight expense, and no better field offers for an experiment with the California re-enforced concrete road that De Young talked about. It can't cost any more than the oil and sand experiments, or the Nuuanu dam, and the people would secure some benefit from the final product.

The voluminous report prepared by Dr. Frederick A. Cook for the University of Copenhagen, which will set forth in detail the explorer's claim to having reached the North Pole, was shipped under a strong guard on the Scandinavian-American liner United States on Thanksgiving day.

Frank Godfrey, an old-time newspaper man and a well-known resident of this city, received two advance Christmas presents from his Uncle Sam by the last mail. One is an engraved Civil War medal for service in the U. S. Army and is accompanied by the following letter: "Bureau of Navigation, Washington, D. C. Nov. 16, 1909.

WHAT DOLE SAYS OF PINEAPPLE MARKET

Consumption Is Increasing But Not Up With Production

Mr. J. D. Dole, who returned from the mainland on the Manchuria, states that while the consumption of Hawaiian pineapples has without doubt been greatly increased by the advertising, the special work and the reduced prices of the past season, and to some slight extent by the Seattle exhibit, there is still a great amount of work to be done if the consumption is to be increased to equal the present rate of production and if the production is to be still further increased.

Under these circumstances the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, which has been considering the proposition and erecting a new factory for the purpose of handling the fruit of some of the smaller growers, does not feel justified in committing itself to the enlargement of its output at the present time.

As is well known, only about 25 percent of the output of Hawaiian pineapples can be packed in the grade known as No. 2 1/2 Extra Sliced, and while Mr. Dole states that consumption of this item is excellent, it is understood that difficulty is experienced in moving the less popular grades and sizes such as the graded, crushed and standard sliced.

NO GHOSTS AT WAIKIKI

Mrs. McClellan, a resident of Waikiki, emphatically denies the existence of ghosts in or about the Waikiki district, as was published in the morning paper.

Mrs. McClellan says there is no foundation for the story whatever. The residents of that locality are very much aroused over the report that ghosts were occupying a cottage out that way. The cottage, wherein ghosts were said to abide, is inhabited by townpeople.

Dwellers at Waikiki protest against such false tales being printed as they might have a tendency to depreciate the value of that place as a residential district.

DIRTY STREETS AS SPREADERS

A letter has been written and sent to the city regarding "Spitting and Spreading Disease," and this campaign for cleanliness has undoubtedly resulted in bringing sharply to the attention of many people the evil results that follow in the train of this nasty practice. So far, so good; but I desire, through the medium of your paper, to call attention to the fact that the City and County of Honolulu is the chief offender in this city against the laws of health as represented by the anti-spitting crusade. While it is true that men are more careful where they expectorate, it is equally true that they still expectorate somewhere, and this somewhere is usually the public street. Now comes into the story the cause of the present mischief; the star abomination of our otherwise clean city—the sprinkling cart. This municipal monstrosity covers the main streets of the city with water that might well otherwise be used to eke out our present scanty supply, and the net result of its application to the streets is a thin, sticky, dirty layer of this mud that adheres to the shoes of pedestrians with the tenacity of glue, and is, by this means, carried into stores and offices and homes all over our town. It isn't a nice thing to write about, but I feel it a duty to do it, and I am going to

One hundred shares of Hawaiian Commercial sold yesterday afternoon at 36.50. This is the largest block of this stock that has come into the market in one day for some weeks.

The market is strong and fairly active. Pioneer is coming up again selling between boards at 192. McBryde is in the foreground and has been subject to great fluctuations in the last twenty-four hours. Yesterday over five hundred shares sold at 6.75. Then two hundred were sold at 6.62 1/2, and finally the last sale on the board this morning was 400 shares at 6.50. There are all the elements of speculation in this stock on account of the possibilities of the change in the agency resulting from the trip of financiers and sugar men to the plantation by tonight's boat to Kauai. This stock holds the record for trading; 9,893 shares changed hands, during November. Olaa is selling at 6.37 1/2. Ewa at 31.75 and Honokaa at 19.75. Dividends were reported on the board this morning amounting to over $150,000. These are the regulars paid on the last day of the month.
